Put Your Money In a New Country

The Pacific Coast extension of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway now under construction, opens to the settler thousands of acres of excellent agricultural land. The new country in Adams, Hettinger, and Bowman Counties, North Dakota, and Butte County, South Dakota, is now reached by the new track. The soil is a dark loam with clay subsoil, and produces in abundance wheat, oats, barley, speltz, flax, corn and potatoes. The land is well adapted to farming, good water is found at a depth of from twenty to fifty feet, and the whole country is underlaid with lignite coal that outcrops along the streams, and in most cases can be had for the digging.

The climate is healthful, the air is dry and invigorating, and the percentage of sunny days is high. Outdoor work can be done almost every day in the year. Rainfall is amply sufficient to raise the crops. Regular mail service has been established, the roads are good, rural telephone lines traverse the country, and automobiles are in common use. The wooded land in this district sells for from $10 to $15 per acre. There are many instances this year where the crop yielded in excess of the average. In Butte County, South Dakota, the government land office has been established. Government land offices are maintained at Lemmon, Hettinger and Bowman, where filings and final proofs may be made. All of these towns are on the new line of the

Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway

In Montana, the new railroad traverses good farming land. It has been demonstrated that big crops of grain may be raised. Along the Yellowstone and Musselshell rivers, the water is used for irrigation, and phenomenal yields of alfalfa, sugar beets, and grain, are always certain. In the Judith Basin near Lewistown, Montana, is one of the most remarkable sections to be found on the new line. Under natural rainfall, the famous bench lands produced this year an average of 35 bushels of hard wheat to the acre, and the price was 94 cents per bushel. The basin contains about 1500 square miles and is sparsely settled. Some government land still remains open for settlement. A government land office is maintained at Lewistown. In Fergus County, outside the Judith Basin, is one of the greatest stock countries in the world, and good ranches can be purchased at a reasonable figure.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Co. has established an immigration department for the purpose of assisting in the settlement and development of the new lands now being opened. Pamphlets descriptive of its resources will be forwarded free on request.

POULTRY SHOW DRAWING NEAR.

The dates for the Ohio State Poultry and Corn Show, to be held in Washington C. H., January 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11, 1908, are drawing near. The big catalogue and premium list is now being sent out all over Ohio and neighboring states, and hundreds of them are being distributed to the farmers and poultry breeders of the Fayette county.

An examination of the premium list reveals the fact that the list of cash and special premiums offered on poultry and corn displays and exhibits are the largest and most valuable offered by any show in Ohio, and this fact is bound to bring the exhibitors here with their poultry and corn from far and near. Hundreds of dollars are offered in cash, and the special premiums include manure spreaders, plows, harrows, corn planters, wire fence machines, wire fencing, washing machines, incubators, corn shellers, bread mixers, tons of fertilizers besides many articles of much value.

Through the kindness of Mr. Charles Persinger the use of the big Sales Pavilion has been secured for the coming Poultry and Corn Show. This is the largest and best lighted building of the kind in the United States with the single exception of Madison Square Garden, New York City, and it will accommodate hundreds of displays of poultry and corn, and they can be seen to perfection, owing to the large number of windows in the sides and upper part of the building. Arrangements are being made to heat the building so that it is expected that it will be an ideal place in which to hold what promises to be the biggest and best mid-summer fair ever held in Ohio.

Ladies should bear in mind that splendid cash and special premiums are offered in bread, cakes, butter, etc., and all the ladies who are in position to do so are earnestly requested to make exhibit and try to secure these valuable prizes. If you are really interested you can secure a catalogue by addressing J. A. Bush, secretary, Washington C. H., Ohio.

All entries will close Saturday, January 4, 1908, at 8 o'clock p. m. The judges on poultry will be: Charles McClave, New London; H. Keller, Prospect; Charles R. Dalbey, Washington C. H.; M. M. Barger, Mt. Gilead; Theodore Faulstich, Dayton; Thomas S. Faulkner, Tiffin; Judge on corn, Gall T. Abbott, Columbus. From the Ohio state exhibition, Western. There is a large display in America.

Interest in corn and poultry culture can learn much that is of real interest and benefit to them by attending this big show and examining the exhibits, watching the judging, etc. Many of the exhibits of corn will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on the closing day of the show January 11 at 2:30 p. m. This will afford an excellent opportunity to secure some first class seed corn.

OBITUARY.

Eva M. Wade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wade, was born in Green county, O., Sept. 30, 1874, and departed this life Dec. 30, 1907. She grew to womanhood in the same community in which she was born. She leaves a father, mother, three brothers, a sister and a companion to mourn her departure. She was married to Charles P. Nagley Dec. 20, 1900, dying on the 7th anniversary of her wedding. At her marriage she came to Delaware, where she has since resided. She was taken with pleural pneumonia 3 years ago from which she never fully recovered. A year ago she contracted a severe cold, from which time she had grown gradually worse. The first of last March she went with her husband to El Paso, Texas, hoping a change of climate might be helpful, but after five months of trial and no benefit, she returned to Delaware. Since then she has rapidly declined, though all that could be done was done that the disease might be checked. She spent some time in Springfield under the care of a physician there hoping he might be able to aid her retreating health but to no avail and she returned to Delaware, growing rapidly weaker. For the last six weeks she was confined to her room.

She was converted and united with the M. E. church at the age of 11, where she has since been a faithful and consistent Christian, interested in all church work.

During all these months of suffering she never complained but manifested a patience and resignation which was truly beautiful. When once entered her room she always greeted them with a cheerful smile and say, "I am better I think."

She had no fear of death and looked into the future with a joyful anticipation of real rest and freedom from pain. Her only regret was in leaving loved ones and especially her companion, whom she loved with unusual devotion. She was conscious to the very last. After having made all arrangements for her funeral, even to the pall bearers and the text, she bade them good-by and entered into rest. Her death was truly beautiful and justifies the remark, "Our people die well."

The Chicago Lyceum Lady Quartette has been heard here before and gave excellent satisfaction. The ladies will be greeted with a large house again on Friday evening January 10.

Oliver Little, son of John Little, had his left arm broken last Thursday while at play.
